FACTS AND FIGURES FOR INFORMATION

Historical and Other Data

The University of Mississippi was chartered in 1844 and opened in 1848. With the exception of the four years covering the period of the Civil War, its work has gone on regularly without interruption.

More than 10,000 individual students have attended the University and over 3,000 degrees have been granted.

The University is situated in the outskirts of the town of Oxford, in Lafayette County. Its elevation above sea level is about 500 feet. The surrounding country is hilly, affording excellent drainage. The campus is a large grove of magnificent forest trees, with a carpeting of grass, covering 60 acres, in the center of a square mile of forest land belonging to the institution. This site combines the quiet, the beauty, and the vigor and physical healthfulness of the country, with the conveniences of urban life. The University's extensive domain is admirably suited for the largest development. Of its tract of 640 acres, approximately 500, lying West of the line of the Illinois Central Railroad, form one compact block available for University use.

The University buildings used for educational purposes together with the chapel, the dormitories, the power house, the hospital, the laundry, and twelve residences, present a frontage aggregating more than half a mile and a total depth of more than one quarter of a mile. With the exception of five residences, all these buildings are of brick, and they will average three stories in height.

The power plant furnishes water and light to all the campus buildings, and steam heat to all, except ten of the residences.

The total value of the University buildings is about One Million Dollars. The furniture, machinery, scientific apparatus, and books in the buildings on the campus, together with the grounds, are valued at $344,000.00. The value of other University property on the campus, including wiring, heating, and plumbing in the buildings, waterworks, sewerage system, tunnels, steam mains, concrete walks, residences, etc., is $277,000.00. The University's cut-over land in South Mississippi (23,040 acres) is estimated as worth $115,200.00.

Attendance

The University has reached capacity attendance. Further growth in numbers will necessitate a larger teaching force and additional buildings. The highest efficiency demands both though, of the two, an enlarged Faculty is far more of a necessity at present than are new dormitories and class-rooms.

The total enrollment for the session of 1924-25 was 919, distributed as follows:

College of Liberal Arts.....	536
School of Law.....	94
School of Engineering.....	52
School of Education.....	156
School of Medicine.....	64
School of Pharmacy.....	70
School of Commerce & Business Admin.....	111

Some in this tabulation are counted twice, leaving a net total of 919.

These productive funds belong to the University. They are deposited in the State Treasury and constitute the University's endowment, amounting to $710,152.72. This endowment added to the property valuation makes a grand total of $2,440,652.72.

GYMNASIUM

The last building named in the list of buildings is a large barn-like structure, called the gymnasium, altogether inadequate and poorly equipped. A plan has been proposed by the Alumni whereby the University hopes to fill a long felt need. Co-operating with the Lamar Life Insurance Company, an adequate sum, possibly $200,000.00, may be realized within a few years, Alumni taking out insurance policies for the benefit of the University. The movement which is now under way to raise funds for building and equipping a first-class modern gymnasium and to greatly enlarge the present stadium is, in my judgment, deserving of whole-hearted and enthusiastic support. As I understand the plans, the University is to be the recipient of a gift, with no reservations or restrictions whatsoever. It is to be the beneficiary of the generosity of its friends and well-wishers.

Surely this old institution deserves all that the loyalty and love of its Alumni can bestow. It has waited long for some such substantial manifestation of appreciation and affection. These feelings of gratitude have never been lacking, but they have been slow in finding adequate expression.

Now that the sons and daughters of the University are awakening to a keener sense of obligation, now that they are seeing visions and dreaming dreams, the University should forge ahead with boundless enthusiasm and irresistible energy. If not with the elastic step of youth, yet with the steady tread of the veteran, it should go along its way, ever striving to excel in all things worthwhile.

The development of the body is not an end in itself, but it is a vastly important means to an end. Any school that neglects the bodily health and the physical training of its young men and women has a fatally defective program.

In heartily endorsing the effort that is being made to provide a gymnasium for the use of the entire student body of the University, so far from discounting the intellectual and spiritual, I am hoping that thereby these may be ultimately more highly exalted. As a servant of the State, the University must emphasize the necessity of good health and physical vigor, and make provision for protecting and improving both. Such a course, if consistently followed, is bound to prove conducive to morality and worthy citizenship.

ALUMNI

The Alumni are being organized. Much enthusiasm was manifested at Commencement in class reunions and in the meeting of the General Alumni Association. The following, taken from a letter which I wrote to a prominent Alumnus, falls in naturally with what I have just been saying:

“While I am fully aware of the place which athletics has and should have in the colleges all over the land, yet I am decidedly of the opinion that this alone is not enough on which to base a reasonable expectation of enlisting whole-heartedly and permanently the active interest and support of the Alumni generally. I would encourage the athletic teams and whatever of college spirit and pride they develop, but, at the same time, I would ever keep foremost the fact that the biggest thing by far that the University can do is to fit men and women for useful service. To this end we must enlarge and strengthen our teaching force, improve our equipment, and add other buildings.

In order to accomplish these results we need the moral backing of a united Alumni. Such a force, properly organized and wisely guided, will prove well-nigh irresistible when it comes to the matter of securing adequate support.

I am hoping that many more local organizations will be affected, whose broad purpose shall be to help the University become more and more a valuable servant of the State. It should go without saying that this is an educational institution. As a necessary corollary, it is a place where everyone is welcome who wants to work and where loafers are not tolerated. Anyone who is fitted to carry a course here and is seriously trying to fit himself for further work in any field of human endeavor should feel at home, and, on the contrary, the idler, the trifler, or mere pleasure seeker, should feel wholly out of place.

I trust that I am making myself plain. In setting forth in this brief and imperfect way my ideal for the University, I am stating, at the same time, what should be the chief aims of the Alumni Association. The University is entirely too big to be satisfied with any lower standard. We can not maintain our self-respect or hold up our heads in the educational world unless we insist that the main thing for an educational institution to do is to educate, to offer opportunity for earnest work.”

CAMPUS STORE

One of the buildings on the campus is not listed because it is privately owned and the business which it houses is a private enterprise. This was originally intended to be a store dealing chiefly with books and such student supplies. It has been expanded until now the original is a secondary consideration, a soft drink stand and a cafe overshadowing the book business. The building houses the store, a cafe, a barber shop, and the University postoffice. My judgment is that it is poor policy to permit any building on the campus to be privately owned or any business to be privately operated. If there is to be a store on the campus, it should be controlled and conducted by the University authorities. If anyone is to profit financially by the sale of anything to students, it should be the students themselves, either directly or indirectly, through University management.

I strongly recommend that an appropriation of $10,000.00 be made to enable the University to purchase the building in question together with such of the equipment as may be wanted, and to further equip the building for use.

WIDENING OF WORK

Summer School

Because of unfortunate complications, a plan to have a nine weeks summer term had to be abandoned. It is earnestly hoped that this kind of work may be resumed in 1926. A great plant like that of the University should not be idle one-fourth of the year. Many letters have been received from teachers over the State, indicating their desire to attend the University summer school. Hundreds of Mississippi teachers go outside the State, who would like to come here where they could enjoy first-class advantages at far less cost than elsewhere.

Economics

An associate professor has been added to the Department of Economics. Later, with the addition of a chair of Rural Social Science and the establishment of research fellowships, the University will be in position to enter upon more concrete practical studies of economic and sociological problems, especially emphasizing the specific conditions unique to Mississippi, and to become an agency for the investigation of such questions as tenancy, taxation, county government; to be a sort of bureau for the collection and dissemination of facts of value to the people generally, and which are not available at present; to take part in a state survey which might result in better revealing economic values and social conditions; to train students in social science for practical service; to issue bulletins, setting forth information on such subjects as: "Cost of a County Government," "Average Interest Rates," "County Wealth Per Capita," etc.

Ceramics

"Adequate space having been reserved in the Chemical Building for a Ceramics Laboratory, it is extremely desirable that the University should receive a fund for the equipment of this laboratory. Indeed, it would be both economy and a forward movement toward the development of the State's clay resources. The State Geological Survey has discovered that many counties of the State are rich in clays, both for ordinary red-burning wares, and in high-grade white clays for pottery, stone-ware, crucible, and other refractory wares. Few states have a greater variety or a greater abundance of clays than has Mississippi; and it has become absolutely essential that these clays receive adequate tests, which they cannot have unless a ceramics laboratory is fitted up to test them. No such laboratory exists in the State, and the Geological Survey, in having such tests made in the past, has been compelled to send the samples to the University of Illinois, at a cost of $50.00 a test, and expressage. Under these conditions necessarily few adequate tests have been made. But with a ceramics laboratory fitted up at the University, all the clays of the State could be tested at a real economy to the State. That consequent development of these valuable resources would result we could reasonably expect, if we may judge by the numerous requests for this information about our clays of which the State Geological Survey is in almost daily receipt."

SOME PRINCIPLES AND POLICIES IN A FEW PARAGRAPHS

During the year 1924-25 it was necessary to deal with a good many delinquents. While about a hundred students were dropped from our rolls, some left us voluntarily, a large number were required to withdraw because of repeated failure in class work, and others were dismissed for serious disorder. I wish to go on record here as being unqualifiedly opposed to hazing in all its forms. It is wholly bad, wrong in principle, and without any justification whatever. The practice is absolutely indefensible, and should not be tolerated. It is not indigencous to Mississippi soil, it is alien to the genius of the University of Mississippi traditions, it is undemocratic, un-American, and, of course, unchristian. Such artificial or class distinctions which it supports are hostile to the spirit of fair play, repugnant to every sense of justice, and cannot live in an atmosphere where everyone should stand on his own individual merit.

Every effort is made to reclaim or save the student who, by reason of poor preparation or lack of application, or difficulty in learning, falls behind in his work. The Faculty is very patient and sympathetic with anyone who makes an honest attempt to do his work faithfully. At the end of the first six weeks, about the first of November, reports of all freshmen are sent home. Students who are failing are warned, some put on probation for the next six weeks, ending with the beginning of the Christmas holidays, and their parents are notified. All this is done with the one purpose and hope that such early action will spur delinquents to renewed exertion. It is only after it has become abundantly evident that the student is making ill-use of his time that his withdrawal is required. This is the only course open, both for the good of the University and all other parties concerned.

Acting upon my advice, the Board of Trustees, at a meeting held July 29, 1924, prohibited dancing on the campus. I had good reasons for urging that this be done. In my opinion the dancing on the campus was very objectionable from a number of standpoints. Without going into details, I may say that it was a source of general demoralization.

There are many forms of social diversion provided right here on the campus. There are two picture shows a week, on Friday and Saturday nights. There is a Lyceum course; there are entertainments by dramatic and musical clubs, to say nothing of quite a large number of other student organizations, partly social and partly intellectual in their nature. The simple truth is that our student life is happy and free from petty restrictions, full and rich with varied activities. So far as I can judge, there is little, if any, reason why a student of the University of Mississippi should seek entertainment of a kind that may easily become dangerous dissipation instead of wholesome recreation.

PURPOSE, PLAN AND SPIRIT OF THE COLLEGE

The following is quoted from an article on the University of Mississippi, which I prepared for the Official Statistical Register of the State of Mississippi, and which was published in the Centennial Edition.

“Throughout all its history, the University, as with similar institutions generally, has had an atmosphere, a spirit, a life, all its own. It has ever been, and it is today, not so much a factory as it is a field, and not so much a field as it is a force. It is not a place where machinery works with dead material, turning out lifeless forms as paying products but rather a place where living beings are in process of growth and development, where mental and moral forces are moulding character and shaping destinies both of individuals and states.

Dating from the opening in 1848, the oldest division of the University as at present organized is the College of Liberal Arts formerly known as the Department of Literature, Science and Art, or the Academic Department. During the early years of its history it was the University and, for more than half a century from its establishment in 1848, it stood alone, save for the Law Department founded in 1854. From it, as a center, radiate influences that vitally and powerfully affect the professional schools now associated with it and, both directly and indirectly, the welfare of the entire State from which it draws its students and into which it sends its graduates. It is the heart of the institution and its pulse-beat is felt throughout every member imparting larger life and lasting vigor. This source of energy and vitality must be kept strong and unimpaired. Or, to change the figure, the foundation must be secure, laid broad and deep, that the superstructure may be builded with reasonable prospect of permanence and stability.

The Professional Schools are quick to acknowledge their indebtedness to the College and their dependence upon it for much of their best material, the superior quality of their own products being due, in large measure, to the training received in the older Departments of the Arts and Sciences.

In fitting men and women for lives of useful service, as lawyers, doctors, engineers, teachers, pharmacists, merchants or what not, the University does not forget that these workers in the various fields of human endeavor are not only better prepared for their professional studies by courses in the College of Liberal Arts, but also that they are thus far more adequately equipped for their life work as they mingle with their fellow men. The curriculum of the College is intended to broaden sympathies, widen horizons, deepen the foundations of character, strengthen manhood and womanhood—in a word, to furnish and equip for intelligent and contented citizenship. It seeks to develop the ability to think clearly, honestly, connectedly, logically, deeply, and, through its thinkers, to handle the industrial, social, political, and religious problems which have to do with good citizenship. It would thus fit young men and women for safe and wise leadership in whatever communities their lots may be cast and, in this way, it would make its contribution to the State and Nation.

The College ever seeks to keep alive the truth that the hidden, the invisible, the silent, the spiritual, forces ultimately and surely shape and determine things visible and material. It teaches, as does all experience as well, that applied science must wait upon pure science; that the chemical, physical, and biological laboratories must laboriously train students in principles and processes if they are to successfully use these in professional studies or in practice; that strong courses in pure mathematics must form the back-bone of any first-class course in engineering; that some knowledge of the history and language of other peoples, not only gives one a broader and more sympathetic outlook, a truer insight into the past, but enables him more correctly to interpret the present and to penetrate the future; that the study of mental, moral, economic, and political sciences, philosophy and literature, is a potent factor in moulding men with ideas and ideals, of making patriotic citizens and constructive statesmen.

Such are some of the aims of the College of Liberal Arts. The State will always need men with the kind of training which the University supplies and the College of Arts and Sciences will, to a very great extent, determine the tone, color, character, and individuality, of the University as a whole. Accordingly, it is confidently believed that the University's College of Liberal Arts is one of the State's greatest servants in building up and perpetuating all that is really worth while. Its province is to lead rather than to follow, and to serve rather than to rule. But in order to serve best, it must be most free—free to expand, to develop, to grow, to see visions, to breathe a clear, pure atmosphere, freed from the suffocating smoke of commercialism, and to live a life which, while in close and sympathetic touch with every interest of the State, is yet untouched by the mercenary spirit of the utilitarian extremist. Unhampered thus, it will prove more and more an invaluable power for the amelioration of unhappy conditions and a mighty force for the uplifting of all people."

PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS

Various University bulletins give full information in regard to the professional schools. Very brief statements only will be made here.

Law

The high character of the service rendered by the Law School since its founding in 1854 is too pronounced and too well-known to call for any extended comment. With the ever increasing enrollment, there is need of enlarged quarters and an additional instructor.

Engineering

Courses in civil engineering were first offered in the University immediately following the Civil War. The present School of Engineering was organized in 1900, offering a complete four-years course. The School occupies the three stories of the North wing of the Lyceum building. Its equipment is valued at $5,000.00.

As indicating something of the principles which have guided in the development of the work of this School and as suggestive of the University's attitude throughout all departments in the matter of serving the State, the following is quoted from an article of mine entitled, "The Civil Engineer's Service to the State," which was published in various papers of the State several years ago.

"Civil engineering is preeminently a profession of progress. It is essentially constructive. It stands for useful service on a large scale. The civil engineer of the twentieth century plays a most important part in the complex life of today. He utilizes the materials and forces of nature for the comfort and convenience of man.

The State depends upon him to develop and to conserve its natural resources. It looks to him for bridges, highways, railroads and canals; water supply and sewerage systems; drainage and irrigation works; municipal improvements. Surely every citizen is vitally interested in maintaining a high standard of engineering practice.

The problem of efficiency is peculiarly the engineer's. Vast sums of money have been lost to towns, cities, counties, and states by entrusting public enterprises to incompetent parties. Expert advice may come high, but a cheap engineer, like a shyster lawyer or a quack doctor, is costly at any price. The genuine engineer secures the safety of his structures first of all, but is not extravagant in the use of materials. He seeks the maximum of strength or of durability with a minimum of cost. He endeavors to build the best bridge, road, or what not, with the least expenditure of money. Economy is his watchword, efficiency his slogan. Wastefulness and inefficiency are alike obnoxious to him. Such men make valuable public servants. The University of Mississippi covets the privilege of training and equipping more of the young men of the State for the engineering profession and of rendering whatever other service in the fields of engineering activity may be in its power. Institutions of learning in general, State Universities in particular, through the experimental and research work of their laboratories, are coming more and more to co-operate heartily and enthusiastically with the industrial world. They are losing their aloofness and making more sympathetic and closer contact with the great throbbing life about them.

The School of Civil Engineering of the University offers to the people of the State every facility which it possesses for testing road-making materials, cement, concrete, metals, stones, and timber. It is well equipped with such machines as are needed for making these tests in a thoroughly satisfactory manner. The entire outfit is for use, not display, and it is used constantly with students."

Education

The School of Education was founded in 1903. It has helped to equip many young men and women for efficient service in the schools of the State. During the session just ended, thirty-eight graduates received professional license to teach and a very much larger number were enrolled in the classes of this School. Of those receiving professional licenses, twenty-five had been "placed" early in the summer, at an average salary of about $1,500.00.

Medicine

The Medical School was created in 1903. It has held membership in the Association of American Medical Colleges since 1904. It is classed in Group A by the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association. From the beginning it has maintained a uniformly high standard. Students who complete the two-years course offered here obtain advanced standing without examination in leading institutions of the country. The estimated value of the equipment of this School is $20,000.00.

Pharmacy

The School of Pharmacy was founded in 1908. It now numbers 275 graduates who may be found in all parts of the State. As a member of the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties, the School of Pharmacy now requires a three years course for graduation. Because of its rapid growth, this School needs additional space, larger equipment, and another instructor. It occupies all of the fourth floor of the Chemistry and Pharmacy Building. Its equipment is valued at $26,000.00.

Commerce and Business Administration

The School of Commerce and Business Administration dates from 1917. While the youngest of the seven major divisions of the University, it enrolled one hundred and eleven students last session. An enlarged teaching force will increase still more the effectiveness and value of the work of this School. Its domicile is the third floor of the Lyceum Building and the estimated value of its equipment is $4,400.00.

REPAIRS AND IMPROVEMENTS

When one considers the repairs necessary to keep an ordinary dwelling in good condition and, further, bears in mind the facts and figures given in the early part of this report dealing with the extent of the University property, it is easily evident that a large sum should be available for repairs. The total roofing of the University buildings covers many squares of surface; the number of windows, doors, locks, run into the thousands; painting, plastering, patching, replacing, must go on year in and year out.

Not only repairs but improvements should be made on certain residences and other University buildings.

To further beautify and preserve the campus, already noted for its natural beauty, and to provide better drainage and improved roads and walks, a liberal appropriation is requested.

OTHER NEEDS OF THE UNIVERSITY

As with anything that is alive and growing, the University has many needs. Some of these have been mentioned already in various parts of this report.

Several schools and departments should be granted additional teaching force.

Funds should be provided for increasing professorial salaries and for equipping certain laboratories with scientific apparatus.

Additional cases are needed for books in the Library and for large and valuable collections of minerals and shells in the Museum.

The great telescope in the Observatory cannot be properly used because of the unfavorable conditions surrounding it and the antiquated dome housing it. A modern observatory building, at small cost, would leave space in the old building needed for the expansion of the Department of Physics.

Many of the University's needs are pressing, some more so than others. Neither majestic buildings nor magnificent equipment, however important these are, but men, make an institution great in useful service. It takes money to maintain a strong Faculty. And without that kind of Faculty, a State University would better close its doors. Adequate funds must be had not only to carry on successfully what the University is doing now, but also to enable it to cover fields of service to the State and to human welfare which it has never yet entered.

Further statements as to the needs of the University for the coming biennium will be set forth in an Appropriation Bill to be submitted to the Legislature.

SERVICE AND HOW NOT TO MEASURE IT.

While it is right to demand that the University's output be, in some good degree, proportionate to the State's outlay, yet, one must constantly bear in mind that the University's work is essentially different in its very nature from that of a mill, railroad, or a manufacturing plant. Time tests may not be applied to teaching so readily as to the performance of a factory hand. Railroad earnings may be set down in dollars and cents, and the manufactured articles of commerce may be valued in the same way. But neither time nor money furnish a proper or complete measure when the things of mind and spirit are involved. It is not possible to accurately estimate either the cost or the value of what the individual student gets from this, that, or the other member of the Faculty. A teacher's strength is influence, that intangible thing which defies analysis, and baffles every attempt at dissection. It cannot be measured by the ordinary standards of the commercial world, nor can its effects be tabulated or expressed in percentages.

It follows from all this that unless one is prepared to probe far deeper than the surface, he is in great danger of misinterpreting mere numerical data, of misunderstanding facts and of misjudging persons and institutions. In studying tabulations and statistics, one should keep before him the fact that figures do not afford a fair and truthful basis for estimating a man's work or his worth—the value of his services to the University and to the State. To illustrate, using a concrete actual case of a former session: one man spends ten hours a week in the class-room, and another twenty-one. The first has about thirty students, the second more than one hundred and fifty, and yet, the former is doing full work. To put more on him would cripple his usefulness and thus be an injustice to the University as well as to him. Both men are serving the University faithfully, and well, though one spends only half as much time in the lecture room and handles only one-fifth as many students as does the other. The first deals with relatively difficult subjects taken by seniors, the second with comparatively simple ones taken by freshmen. To be sure, this is a somewhat extreme case but it illustrates the principle, the overlooking of which would lead into serious error. Here is a vital point, one which should be pondered long and carefully by those who may be inclined to gauge a University professor's work by figures indicating the number of hours of teaching and the number of students taught. On such a basis, the first man is accomplishing only one tenth as much as is the second. However, the simple truth is that as gauged by effort put forth, and by results attained, he is doing fully as much if not more. How easily and how fatally might one blunder if ignorant of the inside facts of this case. Let it not be forgotten that comparative statistics are frequently grossly and dangerously misleading.

No one judges a lawyer's labors by the time spent in the court room or a minister's by the time occupied in the pulpit. Everyone knows that a man's rating in any of the learned professions is not determined by the duration of his public appearances. Both his standing and his remuneration depend on long years of patient, painstaking preparation, as well as on continued application. And it should not be otherwise with a University professor.

FINANCIAL REPORT

An itemized financial statement for the last biennium follows as a part of this report. Further information in regard to this and anything else relative to the University will be gladly given either by correspondence or, better, at first hand here on the grounds where every member of the Legislature will be cordially welcomed.

ALFRED HUME,
Chancellor.
